COMMUNITY SERVICES

STRENGTHENING THE LOCAL COMMUNITY

Are you feeling isolated after experiencing the effects of an abusive or controlling relationship?

The DAWN Project may be able to assist you in taking control and moving forward.

DAWN links volunteers to women recovering from the impact of domestic violence. Based on a 'big sister' model, volunteers act as mentors and companions by assisting women with everyday activities and by providing them with emotional support for up to twelve months.

How does it work?

Volunteers provide regular in-house support for between 3 & 6 hours per week for a period of up to twelve months. The type of support they can offer varies, depending on your needs.

Examples of support

Volunteers can provide a range of practical support such as:

- Accompanying women to court and other essential appointments
- Going out to a café for a coffee
- Visiting you in your home
- Going to a movie
- Going to the park
- Helping you to link in with other services
- Helping you access information and resources

About the volunteers

All volunteers are carefully selected for their ability to listen with compassion and understanding, and without judgement. Volunteers also receive professional training on the causes and effects of domestic violence on women and children.

Some of our volunteers are themselves survivors of domestic violence.

How do I access this service?

To ensure the safety of our volunteers, Doncare will need to assess the safety situation of your circumstances at home. If you would like to find out if this project can support you, contact Kristin Godby on the number below.
